

Holt High School's Story

Holt High School received an NEA grant to support the TLT work.

“We had discussed as a staff how one of our goals was to become more collaborative, as well as increasing student engagement. The TLT process fits both of these goals. We have had at this point almost half of our staff trained on the engagement strategies and have had three learning walks in the building. Our goal is to also have a professional development session where we share this work with the entire staff and model some of the strategies in small group settings. The overall effort is to grow awareness of engagement strategies and how they can impact student performance.”

~ Jessica Cotter, Holt High School